

A PROCLAMATION

(National Parental Week)

WHEREAS, The problems and well-being of our youth have home-influence and parental leadership as a common denominator, and

WHEREAS, the search for the solution to increased juvenile delinquency must begin in the home, and

WHEREAS, South Carolina has joined with other States of the Nation in a concerted effort to reduce juvenile delinquency,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. Strom Thurmond, Governor of South Carolina, do hereby designate and proclaim the week of September 20-26, 1947, as National Parental Week, and urge all parents to study and think of ways to combat juvenile delinquency and to inculcate in our youth respect and obedience to law and order.

Given under my hand and seal this 3rd day of September, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty seven.
